What many people regard as the heart of their home has always been the heart of our company: The kitchen.

We dedicate every day to making kitchens all over the world more beautiful, versatile and innovative places to be. A place of enjoyment and coming together – for people, cultures and ideas. A place that nourishes body and soul. For talking, laughing, arguing. For living.

A SieMatic is part of the family.

It's in our company's blood.
And has been for three generations.

Family means something different to everyone.
This is why no two SieMatics are ever the same.

Everyone is different. Every character is unique.
Every country, every region has its own culinary culture. This enriches our co-existence and ultimately enhances our kitchens –
they are highly customizable and yet always unmistakably SieMatic.

Form

About design and beauty.

The formal language of SieMatic is vibrant and diverse. It permits an infinity of expression, the most sophisticated formulations and is always clearly recognizable – thanks to its typical accent: timeless elegance. It is reflected in all areas of the design, from the smallest intricacy to the holistic room concept. Indeed, “holistic” is a key term in our design language. We give just as much importance to the inside as the outside. And form is always in perfect harmony with function.

PURE
CLASSIC
URBAN

We see kitchens as living spaces.

This is why we don't think in terms of products, but of style collections.

Whether purist, classic or urban, good design doesn't think of itself, but of the people who use it. The three SieMatic international style collections therefore offer the perfect kitchen concept for every home and lifestyle. After all, a SieMatic always becomes part of the family – usually for many decades.

SieMatic style collection

PURE

When it comes to minimalism, the biggest challenge is leaving the right things out to focus on the essentials. The kitchen and room concepts in the PURE style collection are the perfect embodiment of this art. They don't need opulence to impress. Nothing decorative to catch the eye. They stand back, gently underline the room's spatial effect, integrate themselves into the architecture. Thanks to extensive, handle-free surfaces and forms, discrete colors, atmospheric lighting and concealed functionality. The PURE collection never wants to be more than it is: simply perfect.

Omission is an art.

ESPECIALLY IN A HANDLE-FREE KITCHEN, grasping lies at the heart of everything. But it's about more than just opening cabinets. It is the overall concept of hand-crafted perfection, harmonious proportions and an ideal tactile experience. How do we know? We invented the handle-free kitchen. And we constantly re-invent it. Like the new SieMatic SLX Pure, whose handle-free design creates the impression of a countertop floating freely in space.

Weightlessness. The new form of simplicity.

The PURE collection masters storage space to perfection – it displays the beautiful and also offers ample room for life's useful items. Transparent surfaces portray an uncharted notion of weightlessness. They bring perfection to the forefront, highlight materials and shine a deserved spotlight on quality. Behind elegant surfaces, everyday utensils are cleverly stored and always to hand.

Fluent in the language of form.

THE SIEMATIC FLOATINGSPACES PANEL SYSTEM unites living and dining areas to create one stylish whole. After all, the floating shelves offer space for the beautiful and the useful alike. The highly flexible shelves and wall panels are available in the same wide range of materials and surfaces as your SieMatic kitchen and can be adapted to your interior architectural concept down to the very last millimeter.

Must a kitchen look like a kitchen? Can an object of design be highly functional?

The PURE collection provides a convincing answer to this question – with sleek surfaces and lines that conceal the plethora of technical functions required in a kitchen. But by focusing on a reduced number of components, something else becomes visible: the precision of the finish, the quality of the materials and the intricate flair for every last detail.

Intelligence on all levels.

INTELLIGENT SOLUTIONS enable consistently purist aesthetics. Like the vanishing tall cabinet doors, for instance, which can discretely hide the integrated electrical appliances when not in use.

SieMatic style collection

CLASSIC

Opposites don't just attract. Skilfully combined, they create something new, something extraordinary.

The CLASSIC collection masters the creative composition of different style elements to perfection.

It unites traditional forms with modern surfaces and marries elegant colors with metal, glass and stone.

Light and dark, matte and gloss, delicate and solid – in this collection, there is no “or”. Just a harmonious “why not?”

Where storage translates as elegance.

THE COLLECTION'S UNIQUE INTERPRETATION of the classic "Chinese wedding cabinet" is a true gem full of surprises. Its inner life adapts completely to your requirements – from highly functional storage space for china or supplies all the way to a refrigerator and freezer combination, anything is possible.

The skillful blend of tradition and modernity yields a completely new form of timelessness. In the CLASSIC collection, decorative is just as at home as minimalist. This creates a visual balance that also shapes the atmosphere of the kitchen. The design exudes both tranquility and vibrancy; the kitchen becomes a haven of relaxation and enjoyment.

For sense and purpose.

THE ELEGANT MATERIALS for front panels, handles and countertops offer a unique visual and tactile experience. Above all, the use of sophisticated metal in matte black, silver or gold bronze – brushed or as an adept contrast of glossy and matte surfaces – define the CLASSIC collection.

URBAN

Cities are loved for their cosmopolitan flair, cultural diversity and inspiring momentum – characteristics that also gave the URBAN collection its name. The room concepts created with it are open-minded in the truest sense. Freestanding pieces allow for flexible, almost intuitive planning. Surprising elements like a herb garden and the open design highlight the conscious, unconventional lifestyle of its owners. The kitchen becomes a customized oasis of well-being, with plenty of room for your own ideas.

Reap wonder.

THE WEEKLY MARKET ROUND THE CORNER, your own herb garden within arm's reach – urban styles and natural materials are not a contradiction, but rather an expression of a truly special lifestyle. And a kitchen like this at the very heart of it.

The URBAN collection is laid-back, open, almost extroverted.

The combination of open and closed elements reveals insights into everyday life, bringing beautiful and interesting things to the fore. The individuality and creativity of its inhabitants are not only reflected in the choice of furniture, material and colors, but also through the utensils, ingredients and accessories. But when every angle catches the eye, something else stands out: Their appreciation of quality.

A solitaire. With infinite possibilities.

The SieMatic 29 is very special to us. As a modern interpretation of the traditional sideboard, it reminds us of our beginnings in 1929. But it also stands for everything that distinguishes an authentic SieMatic today. After all, even as a freestanding piece of furniture, the SieMatic 29 can be individually tailored – from widths, layouts and functions to the completely customizable interior and diverse range of colors and materials. But for most people, it's love at first sight – with its timeless design.

The SieMatic interior design systems

INSIDE

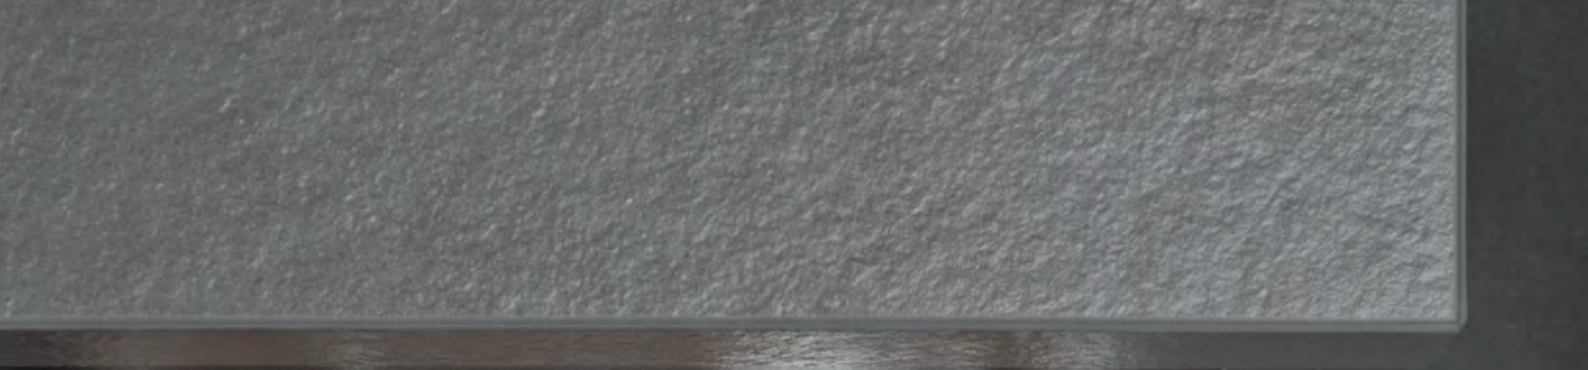

When we talk about outstanding kitchen design, we also mean the harmonious interplay of outside and inside. After all, beneath surfaces, behind doors and pullouts hides the valuable essence of a SieMatic:

The interior design systems. Impressive in terms of both beauty and intelligence. With a harmonious selection of materials and exceptional quality.

But above all, an intricate passion for detail. Perhaps not perceptible at first sight, but unmistakable every single day. After all, only when used does the meticulous care, durability and expertise that distinguish our interior design systems become apparent.

Life constantly evolves, requirements and demands change. Children's crockery and baby bottles give way to elegant, new glasses. Or the kitchen adapts to include a home office. We can't foresee what life will bring us next. But with the SieMatic interior design system, we can do everything possible to ensure your kitchen is perfectly prepared for whatever life has in store for you. From drawer and pullout interiors to the variable MultiMatic system in cabinets and on the inside of cabinet doors. Conceived and developed exclusively by SieMatic, the systems can also be changed, supplemented and combined – even years later. For more flexibility in the kitchen.

Function

About intelligence and skill.

We firmly believe that the equation for the perfect kitchen concept only works out when function is added to form. Only then do we arrive at the correct answer: An authentic SieMatic. It's no coincidence that "Matic" is a key part of our brand name and emphasizes our passion for technology and engineering. For our customers, this means meticulous finishing and intelligent solutions – in other words, all-embracing kitchen expertise that translates every last detail into reality.

Colors and materials.

For every kitchen concept, we always have a color and material scheme in mind. A harmonious and sensitively attuned palette of colors, surfaces and materials that highlight the character of the kitchen design. The key criterion is always our understanding of timeless elegance. After all, a SieMatic should bring enjoyment for many years to come. Equally important is your personal style. This is why we not only offer you a wide range of materials, lacquer and laminate surfaces, but also the SieMatic ColorSystem with up to 1,950 special colors to choose from in satin matte or high-gloss. The only thing that is never up for debate is the quality. When all is said and done, each of our surfaces have to undergo the toughest endurance test of all: Everyday life.

Woods and veneers.

Warmth, naturalness, versatility – wood is an integral element in living spaces and kitchens today. Nevertheless, we are always committed to transforming this flexible material into something exclusive. A continuous, real-wood veneer that runs seamlessly over joints and separations is and will always be truly extraordinary. These types of wood require careful selection, combination and processing; the surfaces demand meticulous assembly and alignment. And the unique flair of nature assumes center stage.

Metal elements and accents.

Durable, hygienic and easy to care for – stainless steel and aluminum are inherent features of a professional kitchen. But in order to become part of a SieMatic, metal has to fulfill an additional function: It has to bring a special touch to the room. Whether as a countertop, a decorative beveled frame or a tactile experience, such as the handle channel. Whether glossy, silk matte or brushed. The quality of workmanship, design and innovative use are what make the difference. And what makes a SieMatic a professional kitchen – when it comes to design.

Illumination and lighting systems.

Lighting plays a decisive role in creating an ambiance of well-being in a room; the right illumination is crucial in the everyday life of a kitchen. Our lighting designs not only give close consideration to both of these factors, but have also perfected the finish and integration of lights – from the ideal lighting angle through the individual control of the lighting mood all the way to the replacement of bulbs. A wide array of lights and technologies are available to ensure your kitchen is always in the spotlight.

StoneDesign and natural stone.

Stone and stone-look countertops, side facings and niche cladding are a symbol of our ambition. Of our endless aspiration to do everything possible for exceptional design. Take, for example, an ultra-thin countertop. It looks almost fragile, too delicate to withstand the demands of everyday use. But here, the secret lies in the material – and the unique expertise of our engineers and specialists. SieMatic StoneDesign permits the creation of seamless countertops in thicknesses, lengths and surfaces that would otherwise hardly be supportable. We offer a diverse range of design options with thicknesses of 6.5 to 140 mm, both in real natural stone such as granite, marble, slate, limestone and volcanic stone and in ceramics and composites. Each of these natural materials has its own special appearance and characteristics that make your kitchen design unmistakably unique.

Consulting and planning.

Regardless of the energy and passion we invest in our kitchen and room concepts, they only really adopt their true character when they arrive at their new home. Through the specific design, lighting, architecture and, not least, the people who cook and live in them. This is why consulting, planning and assembly are crucial tasks we only ever assign to experts – architects, professional kitchen planners and our exclusive partners all over the world. We support our partners through inspiring exchange and further training programs at the SieMatic Academy. Not to mention the high degree of individualization that makes every SieMatic a veritable one-off.

The silent heroes of SieMatic.

A SieMatic is always a comprehensive package of design, quality and intelligent solutions. But there are some details that make us particularly proud. So much so that we like to refer to them amongst ourselves as our “silent heroes”. Although they may initially appear like modest details of no consequence, their sum represents a decisive factor with high customer value. After all, they show how we think kitchen and design all the way to the end for you.

On the following pages, we’d like to introduce you to some of the heroes who really make a SieMatic a SieMatic.

The SieMatic multifunction track.

A prime example of our “silent heroes” is the patented SieMatic multifunction track. It is found in carcasses and can also feature upon request on the inside of SieMatic cabinet doors. It is both inconspicuous and indispensable. With its fine 16-mm grid, it enables a highly flexible interior – from the arrangement of shelves to the installation of the sophisticated MultiMatic system elements for cabinets and doors. Used efficiently, it can also create up to 30% more storage space.

The SieMatic flock2block system.

At the heart of this idea lies a fascinating coupling effect: When two flocked surfaces come into contact, they are held together. We call this the SieMatic Flock2Block system and use it to line the interiors of our drawers and pullouts. A flock mat is used as a base. Because the high-quality inserts and SieMatic porcelain elements also have a flocked underside, they rest comfortably and securely and are easily removed and rearranged.

SieMatic

The SieMatic GripDeck.

At first sight, the lines on the drawers look like a simple design element, but upon closer inspection they emerge as clever helpers in everyday life. With its rubber strips, the SieMatic GripDeck insert prevents even the heaviest pots and pans from slipping. It also protects the bottom of the drawer from scratches.

The rounded corners.

Considering every corner, especially if it's at the very back of the cabinet where dust and grime love to gather, can be daunting. SieMatic offers a solution that is as simple as it is effective, the so-called "rounded corners". These small plastic inserts are placed in the corners that are hardest to reach with a cloth, thus visibly improving hygiene while remaining practically invisible themselves.

Quality is the best form of sustainability.

We have always felt a deep sense of responsibility towards our environment and future generations. This is why strict environmental regulations have always been a matter of course in the development of our products, the selection of our materials, our transport routes and the production of our kitchen furniture. They often go far beyond the standard for the industry. We regularly have them checked and certified by neutral and reputable bodies, from the stringent FSC certification to the high standards of the US CARB II standard (TSCA Title VI).

But we also make an equally important contribution to sustainability with our high quality standard. Every SieMatic kitchen that leaves our factory is built for decades of use. This starts with even the tiniest screw and hinge, which have to pass the toughest load tests in our own testing laboratory. And it culminates in the timeless design of our kitchens, which transcends generations and thus sustainably conserves resources.
